Would you volunteer for medical experiments?

Arthur from Australia talks about his experience with medical experiments.

Match the words in bold with the words to the right. Then use them in the sentences below.

The question that I'm answering is: Would you volunteer for medical experiments?

Now, personally, I have come from a health professional background and have also been involved in medical experiments as the practitioner. So I've seen different types of experiments. And so there's one experiment that I was part of where I helped out people with knee arthritis with an exercise regime. And that was the medical experiment.

So, personally, if it was a medical experiment that didn't involve anything invasive. And what do I mean by invasive? It's if I didn't have to take any medication or there's no injections or things like that, and it's simply an exercise program, I would definitely volunteer for something like that. But if I had to take a drug or if I had to take a lot of blood tests and things get a bit more invasive, then I definitely would not volunteer for that type of medical experiment.

Now, where I am at the moment is I probably will not, in an overall sense, volunteer for any medical experiment.

cared for | helped out
 a little | a bit
